Huge Crowd Flocks To Tiny Saugatuck

SAUGATUCK (AP) — A pop rock concert — which concludes today — premiered Friday, creating a lot of noise, a monumental traffic jam, and bringing thousands upon thousands of youths to the Lake Michigan resort area.

Thousands couldn't make it. They were involved in a late night traffic jam that caused State Police and sheriff's deputies to close off the roads around the 1,000-population village of Saugatuck. Between 8,000 to 9,000 persons created the traffic jam where they traveled for the annual pop concerts. Police expect up to 30,000 persons to flood the area before the concert is concluded. Also Friday, Allegan County sheriff's deputies said about 45 persons were taken into custody for such things as disorderly conduct and drinking. Officers said two persons suffered minor gunwounds. In one case, police said a Chicago youth was shot by another youth from his hometown when one group tried to take over another boat. The Saugatuck police dispatcher blamed part of the traffic snarl on the fact that many youths headed for the small village, instead of the privately-owned Pottawatomie Beach, two miles north of town, where the concert took place. Many of the youths slept on the Lake Michigan sand dunes. About the town's troubles, the dispatcher said "I couldn't blame it on the hippie kids. I don't think they were the ones causing any problems."

Saugatuck Mayor Lynn McCray said he wanted the annual event halted. Many persons came on motorcycles. One woman, seeing motorcyclists being doused by the rain, said they looked "like wet, dirty mattresses."

UNRELATED SHOOTING

Meanwhile, in an incident apparently unrelated to the pop festival, two Chicago men were wounded in what state police described as a fight at the Saugatuck boat docks. Treated for flesh wounds at Douglas Community hospital were Thomas Farrell and Patrick Samion, both 20. Troopers said they arrested John and Frank Cannatello, twin brothers, 24, also of Chicago, on charges of felonious assault.

The Cannatello twins were lodged in the Allegan County jail pending arraignment today, police added.

Coed At U-M Shot In Head

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A university of Michigan coed was found shot in the head and critically wounded today in her apartment in Ann Arbor, near where six young women have been found murdered in the past two years.

Police said Margaret Phillips, 25, of Coopersville, was found in her Ann Arbor apartment lying on a bed, fully clothed and unmolested. Police Chief Walter Krasny said the apartment apparently had not been burglarized.

Miss Phillips was a student in the School of Social Work, as was the last victim in a string of six murders of young women during the past two years in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area.

The latest victim, Alice E. Kalom, was found dead June 9. But police said the two evidently were not acquainted and had no known mutual friends.

CRITICAL HOURS

Miss Phillips underwent surgery early today. Doctors said she still had one slug imbedded in her head. They added the next 24 hours will be critical for her.

Police said Miss Phillips was found by a neighbor about 15 minutes after she was shot. Police said a preliminary examination indicated the victim admitted someone to her apartment about midnight and talked about 10 minutes. Neighbors reported they then heard loud reports.

DOOR UNLOCKED

The neighbor who found Miss Phillips said she came to use the phone, and entered the victim's apartment through the unlocked door.

Southwest Michigan Records 2 Deaths

Southwestern Michigan had contributed two deaths to the Fourth of July holiday accident toll as of 11 a.m. today.

An auto collision on M-140 Friday killed a West Virginia woman, and an Ecorse, Mich., youth drowned in a Cass county swimming pool.

Meanwhile, 235 lives had been lost in traffic across the nation as the extended holiday period neared the halfway point. Michigan had accounted for 19 traffic deaths as of this forenoon.

California, with 23, had the highest toll among the states as the second day of the weekend began. Texas followed with 21. The tabulation period began at 6 p.m. Thursday and will end at Midnight Sunday.

Homes Rebuilt After Storm Levelled Again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tornadoic winds and torrential rains swept through Michigan on Independence Day and early today, causing about 40 injuries and setting the stage for the death of a boy in a Detroit suburb.

The tornadoes struck near Adrian, Hillsdale, Flat Rock and Milan last night and in Le- one Township and Grass Lake Townships in Jackson County today.

However, a tornado watch for other large areas of southern Lower Michigan expired today without incident.

BOY DROWNS

Billy Corson, 13, drowned Friday in a rain-swollen drainage ditch near his Troy home. He was swept away when he failed in an attempt to leap the five-foot wide ditch, police said.

The winds reached their most destructive levels in southeast Michigan before moving into Ohio where several were killed along the Lake Erie shoreline at Cleveland and Toledo.

The Canadian Coast Guard rescued more than a dozen persons from Detroit River near Amherstburg, Ont.

Tornadoes struck near Hillsdale, Milan and Flat Rock damaging numerous farm buildings, ripping utility wires and destroying two houses which had been built on sites leveled in the 1965 Palm Sunday tornado. Another house at Milan was demolished.

At Flat Rock about 20 persons were treated at area hospitals for cuts and bruises, however none was hospitalized.

At least four persons were injured near Milan.

Tornadoes reportedly struck the southeast area of Jackson County today, injuring four persons including a six-month old baby when a trailer was lifted from its foundation and overturned. Two other persons were injured when high winds struck. And five persons were hurt when their car struck a tree that had been blown across the road.

No one was reported injured at Hillsdale.

Gives Up Tub 7 Miles Out

LUDINGTON (AP) — A would-be sailor set sail today in hopes of being the first person to ride a bathtub across Lake Michigan, but gave up on the attempt less than seven miles offshore.

The Coast Guard dispatched a cutter to pick up Victor Jackson of East Lansing after his tiny craft was swamped by rough water, his steering compass became erratic and his radio developed transmission troubles.

Jackson left Ludington this morning and quickly disappeared into pea soup fog as his craft headed for Wisconsin.

He tested it on the Grand River near his East Lansing, Mich., home before moving it to Ludington.

It has been registered with the Michigan secretary of state as a pleasure craft.

His destination was Manitowish, Wis., and he hoped for a 10-hour passage.

Jackson, father of six children, says this of his wife: "She thinks it's nuts, but says if I'm crazy enough to try it she'll go along with the idea ... not the trip."

Aid For Frustrated Campers Is Near

LANSING (AP) — Michigan outdoor enthusiasts, seeking to get away from it all this weekend, found many of the state's parks, camp grounds and beaches the wrong places to begin their quest for holiday happiness.

Across much of the Lower peninsula, bumper-to-bumper traffic, shoulder-to-shoulder bathing and wall-to-wall tenting was a common experience.

But a long-sought, hotly contested legislative compromise earlier in the week paves the way for renewed state action to expand recreational facilities.

Of the $100-million recreation bond expected to reach Gov. William G. Milliken early next week for signing, some $45 million is to be put directly to work by the natural resources department. Parks and forestry projects would receive $27 million.

Milliken, who proposed spending a slightly larger portion of the total $100 million bond for urban recreation, still praised the final compromise as "a victory for the people" rather than "any region, individual or special interest."

The plan adopted by the Legislature assures that a significant share of the state projects be designated for areas where the needs are greatest.

SLIGHT DIFFERENCE

Both Milliken and Ralph A. MacMullan, natural resources department director, insisted the final allocation differed only slightly from the original 70-30 formula.

"I frankly don't think it was generally understood that we proposed from the beginning to spend much of the state project money ($70 million) in and near urban areas, particularly for parks," MacMullan said.

He maintained the adopted formula—$55 million for both state and local recreation near urban areas, $45 million for out-state, departmental projects — provides "a flexible approach to an administratively sound program."

MacMullan said the department soon will ask legislative approval of its priorities. Capital outlay plans for the new fiscal year include $5.63 million from the recreation bond, and $12 million in federal and water conservation funds.

LIST PRIORITIES

A preliminary departmental list of priorities includes the said: —$2.3 million to buy land to expand 12 recreation sites and parks in the Lower Peninsula.

—$7.03 million for development of existing state park facilities, including $4.71 million in construction.

—$4.05 million for fishery development, including $2.2 million for the Platte River hatchery and $794,000 to plan a warm water hatchery and buy stream frontage for public fishing.

—$2.1 million for game and wildlife development. The bulk, $1.7 million, is proposed for new habitat lands in southern Michigan and wetland development across the state.

—Additional capital outlay funds for recreation and wilderness campgrounds. "To reduce the 1969-70 capital outlay budget request from $845,000 to $670,000." Campgrounds, trails and forest roads are the principal projects involved.

Michigan House Zaps Housing

Anyone thinking of buying a different house, building a new one, or remodeling his present abode will have to look under the floorboards for the money unless he can raise it from his own resources.

The mortgage market simply will not be open to the average prospective borrower.

This gloomy prospect, already a too prevalent situation, rises from the Michigan House defeating Wednesday a lifting in the 7 percent usury law adopted back in 1855.

The voting followed partisan lines closely. Primarily it was Democratic opposition to a higher mortgage rate which shut the door, although if the minority Republican bloc had stuck together, passage could have been obtained.

Gus Scholle, the AFL-CIO political action chieftain, blasted the proposal back in the winter as a slap against the little guy despite the fact of mortgage money then disappearing because of more favorable interest rates in other investments.

Having popped off so intemperately, Scholle found it impossible to dismount gracefully and his union cohorts in the House had to follow the party line.

The chance for backing off from the 1855 limitation in this session of the legislature is remote.

The real estate market consequently will have to limp along in the hope that the money market may level off later in this year.

Money is outrageously high, but so is every other cost factor in the economy.

Many House members from both parties voted against lifting the mortgage lid to 8 1/2 percent, a bill already approved in the Senate, on the premise of time healing all wounds; in this instance, betting on interest rates in all areas levelling off and hopefully dropping.

A good many economists and money men are repeating the same words, but they talk in different terms. What they mean is that the best credit risk will not be stabbed as deeply as is now the case. In effect they are saying the following illustrative interest rates may fall off to some extent:

8 1/2 percent prime rate (what General Motors must pay for short term credit).

10 percent federal funds (what one bank pays to another bank to cover a minimum reserve balance with the Federal Reserve System).

7.4 percent, one-year Treasury bills (Uncle Sam's short term borrowings).

5.3 percent on a five-year, tax exempt municipal bond carrying Moody's best rating; 5.8 percent on a Moody's clearance for maturities of 10 or more years.

Everyone of the above indives could drop two or more points Monday morning and it would still be a long day before the average man could cage a 7 percent mortgage loan from his local bank or savings and loan association.

The reason is the same in any pricing. The wholesale market moves up or down long before the same ripple is felt at the retail level.

Some local borrowers won't be kept outside the door because "taking care of" certain people is the name of the game at all times. It is also a good question if the House had lifted the mortgage ceiling to 8 1/2 percent how attractive this would be to the money people considering rates in other fields.

It's the deserving borrower, though, who will be hurt. He's the gent the House vote ostensibly seeks to protect.

Star Era Changing Its Orbit

The recent deaths of Robert Taylor and Judy Garland remind the middle aged reader that the film superstar is changing.

There is nothing new or startling in the statement, nor does it portend the significance of a Mao Tse-tung shifting his countrymen from a centuries old way of life to one entirely at odds with tradition.

And, for that matter, the old home town, changes with each passing season.

It's just that today's film entertainer differs noticeably from his predecessors.

Taylor, Miss Garland, Jimmy Stewart, John Wayne, Bob Hope, Doris Day, to mention a few who leaped into stardom as far back as the '30s, have no comparable replacements.

Suzanne Pleshette, for example, from a technical standpoint probably is a better actress than was Marilyn Monroe, and the stories acted out by Suzanne are meatier than the scripts developed for Marilyn.

Question, though, will Suzanne be in the upper ranks 10 or 20 years from now?

One answer is simple enough. If today's entertainment fare is snappier and those dishing it out are better technicians than the old timers, what's the difference?

The same analogy can be drawn from the business world.

Today's professional manager, considering particularly the handicaps with which government surrounds all business, is more skilled than yesterday's barons.

He is, though, absolutely colorless when compared to a John Jacob Astor, the first Cornelius Vanderbilt, the elder J. Pierpont Morgan, or John D. Rockefeller.

If nothing else, those rugged characters still make it in the history books, which is more than is reasonably predictable for today's board chairman of the XYZ Corporation.

It has been said many times over that television chews up material and entertainers faster than any previous medium. If TV had been the commercially acceptable product prior to World War II that it became since, not even the durably rugged John Wayne could have survived that repetitive routine.

A more subtle change but possibly a stronger influence is the approach to entertainment.

The superstars evolved from a format pitting good against evil. The superstar could be a good guy or a bad guy; but he could not rise in the firmament by portraying anything between those extremes.

The modern trend emphasizes the gray areas in life.

The attitude is more realistic than what Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks, Sr., brought to the silent screen, but dramatizing a middle ground, more accurately an uncertain plane, casts a ho hum aura around the actor.

The penchant for tossing too many big name performers into one production does not help the superstar development. The old skit of a leading man and a leading lady, before a backdrop of plowhorse performers, was the steel on flint formula to make superstars. Today's agglomerated casting is too much like running one grindstone against another.

Since personalities are crucial to entertainment, some version of the superstar is due for a comeback.

A bum role won't dim a star, but a mine run performer can do nothing for a good script.

Wheeling around a corner, the bus driver cut so sharply that a suitcase fell out of the overhead rack. It landed squarely on the head of an unsuspecting woman passenger, inflicting painful injuries.

In due course, she sued the bus company for damages. At the trial, the company protested that it should not be held responsible for such an unlikely accident.

But the court felt otherwise and ordered the company to pay the woman's claim. The judge said it was part of a driver's job to handle his bus with full regard for the dangers of falling luggage.

As it does on all common carriers, the law imposes substantial responsibility on a bus company for the safety of the traveling public. This responsibility extends not only to the way the driver handles the bus but also to the way luggage is placed—either on the rack overhead or in the seats and aisles.

Consider this case: A passenger set his suitcase on the floor, where it protruded more than two feet into the aisle. Another passenger, coming through, stumbled over the suitcase and suffered a broken leg.

Here, too, a damage suit against the bus company was successful. The victim won his case on the ground that the suitcase had been in that obstructive position long enough for the bus driver—if he had been reasonably alert—to have noticed it and taken action.

Nevertheless, while the law demands due care of the driver, it does not expect the impossible. In another case, the driver did check the position of all luggage—above and below—before starting out. Furthermore, he drove his bus with proper care.

Yet, unbeknownst to him, a satchel on the overhead rack contained a kitten. During the ride the kitten moved, shifting the center of gravity and bringing the satchel crashing down upon a passenger's shoulder.

Under these circumstances, a court could find no basis for holding the bus company liable. The judge said he saw no way by which the driver, no matter how conscientious, could have foreseen and forestalled an accident like this.

..And Speaking Of Your Health

German measles is a mild infectious disease that seems to look like a cross between measles and scarlet fever. The skin rash does not last as long and the patient is usually not severely ill. Why, then, is it so important that a vaccine to prevent this "mild disease" is a landmark in American medicine?

Rubella or German measles, has an incubation period of 14-21 days after a person has been exposed to it. It is strange how difficult it is to acquire the disease even when a young child, especially girls, are purposely exposed to it. The reason doctors are so anxious that children have Rubella at an early age is to avoid the possibility of having it as adults, especially during pregnancy. It is known that when German measles occurs in the first three months of pregnancy, it may be responsible for abnormalities in the newborn child.

It is with particular enthusiasm that it now can be stated that a live-virus vaccine will soon be available for use all over the world to protect everyone against this disease. The United States Public Health Service, after thousands of trial cases to be sure there is no side effect, has granted a number of companies permission to manufacture and distribute the new and effective vaccine against Rubella.

Finding the substance that causes an allergy in some people can be an arduous task and frequently, is almost impossible to detect. Patients sometimes are given dozens of skin tests and often become impatient when the offender is not quickly found. Unfortunately, allergens, or offending substances, may do their annoying job by working in combination with others.

An illustration that might show the difficult problems that sometimes arise in pinpointing an exact food allergen is this — a person may not be sensitive to ham or to cheese but may be sensitive to the combination. Add to the sandwich, mustard or relish, and you can see how the difficulty is compounded. Yet skin testing has been effective in many cases.

Now a new, safe and quick method of detecting allergens is being tried by Dr. William I. K. Bryan and Marian P. Bryan at The Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis. The method in use is not a skin test. It is a study of the white blood cells which seems to be a guide as to the reaction to certain allergy-producing foods. The test seems to take only a few minutes although the equipment is rather complicated. It is hoped that this additional information to the testing devices now in use.

I don't know when the open hunting season arrives. There is legal restriction on killing animals in all areas of the country. There is, however, an open season license to kill humans that almost always goes along with the hunting season.

The National Society For Prevention of Blindness urges that all hunters have thorough eye tests before they go out into the wilderness with their shot guns and over-and-under weapons. It has been reported that 25 percent of all hunting accidents were due to a hunter's poor vision. A good eye examination may avoid bagging a fellow hunter.

Opening lead—queen of clubs. Whenever your side has 33 high-card points, there is an excellent chance you can make a small slam. With 37 points, you can probably make a grand slam.

Of course, many slams can be made with fewer points, but this is usually due to exceptional distribution or because the cards fit particularly well. Such hands generally require greater bidding skill, since good judgment takes over where point count leaves off.

Take this deal from a team match where both North-South pairs met their obligations in full, though the final contract was not the same.

At the first table the bidding went as shown. West's jump to four clubs was simply an effort to discombobulate enemy communications. North, with a fine trump fit, jumped to five diamonds.

South then bid five notrump—the grand slam force—requesting North to bid seven diamonds with two of the three top trump honors. South was obviously willing to gamble that his partner had the king of spades, or that a finesse against the king would succeed. North dutifully bid seven, which was easily made, and North-South scored 2,140 points.

The grand slam was not bid at the second table—but for a very good reason. The bidding began:

South West North East
1 ♠ 2 ♠ 3 ♠ 3 ♥
3 ♠ Pass 4 ♠ Pass
4 ♥ Pass 6 ♥

At this point East doubled. It wasn't a good double, especially after South had cuebid hearts to show a void. East apparently expected West to have a better hand for his vulnerable two club overcall.

South, who had been planning to bid seven diamonds over six, redoubled instead. So North-South failed to reach the excellent grand slam, but this did not damage them at all. They made the redoubled contract with an overtrick for a score of 2,180 points, thus gaining 40 points net on the exchange of punts.

Imperial Has New Division

Benton Harbor Outlet Offers Fast Printing

James L. Rice, vice president of Imperial Printing Co. of St. Joseph, today announced Imperial will open a new division called "Jiffy-Print" at 127 Pipestone street, Benton Harbor on Monday, July 7.

Rice said that the "Jiffy-Print" division will use a revolutionary process developed by the 3-M Company which will allow delivery of printed material 15 minutes after the receipt of camera ready copy from the customer. This service can be used to reproduce reports, bulletins, letters, sales flyers, notices and forms. The printing can be done on regular paper or letterheads furnished by the customer.

Rice said the service should be especially valuable to lawyers, teachers, businessmen, churches and clubs in the Twin Cities area who require quality printing in a hurry.

In addition to offering "Jiffy-Print," the new location will serve as a branch office for the services and products of the main Imperial plant located at 510 Colonial Drive, St. Joseph. Imperial offers complete printing and graphic arts services, pressure sensitive products, brochures and manuals.

Operator-manager of the new division will be Oscar Stubbelt, who has been associated with Imperial for over 14 years. Stubbelt, his wife, Renate, and a 10-year-old son, Edward, reside at 4424 Laurel Drive, St. Joseph.

Car Drags Stevensville Woman, 76

A Stevensville woman was injured seriously Friday night when she was hit and dragged by a car being backed by her husband in the driveway of their home.

Mrs. Gertrude Simpson, 76, Box 918, Grand Mere, Stevensville, was reported in critical condition today in Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor. She suffered head injuries and scrapes, Berrien county sheriff's deputies reported.

Hayden Edward Simpson, 81, told deputies he was putting the car away and did not see his wife behind the vehicle. The deputies said Mrs. Simpson was apparently moving a chair out of the driveway when the accident occurred. She was dragged 12 feet.

In other accidents, Robert Dockins, 4, son of Lewis Dockins, 361 East May street, Benton Harbor, received scrapes when he was struck Friday afternoon by a car on Blossom lane. Benton township police said the youth ran into the street in front of a car driven by Timothy Jenkins, 17, of 1252 Blossom Lane. The child was treated at Mercy hospital and released.

Mrs. Patricia Stanley, 43, Route 2, Hartford, was hospitalized in Mercy hospital from Thursday afternoon to late Friday afternoon after she fell from a car driven by her husband, John, 46.

Benton Harbor police said Mrs. Stanley fell out when the door came open as the car was turned onto Forest street from Territorial. Stanley was charged with drunk and disorderly, officers said.

McAlvey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McAlvey, 273 Robins avenue, Fairplain. His father is a well known school official, who this week assumed a new position as personnel assistant for the Benton Harbor school system.

The younger McAlvey joined the Illinois Joliet Crime laboratory in 1965, became superintendent of the laboratory, and six months ago was named acting head of the bureau's identification and investigation activities at Joliet and of the offices at Springfield and Carbondale.

He was graduated from Michigan State university in 1962 in police science. After graduation he was a criminalist with the Pittsburgh and Allegheny County, Pa., crime laboratory for three years before going to Illinois.

He is a member of the American academy of Forensic Sciences, the International Association for Identification, and the Illinois Chiefs of Police association.

DR. HARZEL TAYLOR, Benton Harbor dentist and secretary of the Benton Harbor Board of Education, and his wife, Susan, were among 20,000 persons in Miami Beach, Fla., earlier this week for the annual convention of Kiwanis International.

Representing some 275,000 members around the world, the Kiwanians gathered for three and one-half days to conduct business and hear from such persons as Douglas Edwards, CBS News correspondent, and Senator Roman L. Hruska (R-Nebraska).

GERRY WAHL, 5810 Longhorn trail, Stevensville, was honored as one of the 10 outstanding jaycee vice presidents at the organization's convention last week in Louisville, Kentucky.

To be eligible for the award, each district vice president had to be elected to represent the state. Then, the convention chose the top 10 from this select panel of 50.

Wahl commented that he was in 1944.

West Virginia Resident Is Collision Victim

A migrant farm worker was being held on a charge of negligent homicide today following a two-car crash Friday in which a West Virginia woman was killed and five other persons injured.

The crash occurred about 11:45 a.m. on M-140 at Dean's Hill road, Berrien Center. One of the cars was driven onto M-140 from Dean's Hill road and hit the other roadside, Berrien county sheriff's deputies reported.

The fatality was the county's 25th for the year and the first over the long July 4 holiday weekend.

Held in the county jail was Roberto Morin Flores, 18, San Benito, Tex., deputies said they did not know where he was employed.

The victim was identified as Mrs. Julia Deiores Whinnie, 52, Fairmount, W. Va., a passenger in a car driven by her son-in-law Harlan M. Crow, 27, of South Bend.

Five other persons in the auto were injured. They were Mrs. Whinnie's husband, Curtis, 58; a daughter, DeLores Kerns, 31; and Karlin Ann Kerns, 7, all of Fairmount; Crow's wife, Karen, 27; and Crow.

Four of the five remained hospitalized today in Berrien General hospital, Berrien Center. Crow was released after treatment.

Hospital attendants said all were in fair condition today. Mrs. Kerns received head and back injuries; Karlin Ann Kerns suffered a broken right leg; and Mrs. Crow received head injuries, they said.

According to Crow's report to deputies, he was northbound on M-140 when the other car came from Dean Hill road, heading west. Mrs. Whinnie was in the back seat on the right side, he reported. The Crow auto traveled 163 feet from the point of impact and came to a stop facing south in the side drive of the Berrien Center post office. The right side was crushed inward.

Deputies said the Flores auto traveled 76 feet after the crash and came to stop at the door of the post office. No damage was reported to the building.

Three youths from cities in Texas were riding with Flores, officers said. They were identified as Jessie Vasquez, 15; Maurice Esquivel, 14; and George Alvarado, 15. None were reported injured.

Mrs. Whinnie's body was transferred from Bowerman funeral home, Eau Claire, to Lazear and Kent funeral home, Farmington, W. Va.

BH Man Convicted As Robber

Jury Doesn't Believe Alibi

One man was convicted on an armed robbery jury trial Thursday in Berrien circuit court and two other persons were sentenced for two different offenses.

Charles Williams, 26, of 197 Concord street, Benton Harbor, was convicted by jury on the third day of the trial on a charge of armed robbery of $900 from Simmons grocery in Benton township on Jan. 27.

Williams and his girl friend, Olivia Humphrey, testified they were together at the Humphrey home at the time of the robbery, but Mrs. Virginia Simmons, wife of the grocery operator, made an eyewitness identification of Williams as one of the robbers.

Also, a grocery clerk, Mrs. Perona Mitchell, testified Williams looked like one of the robbers.

Trial was held in Judge Karl F. Zick's court and the jury deliberated about 3½ hours. The case pitted Berrien Chief Assistant Prosecutor Quentin Pulcher against St. Joseph Atty. Harry Creager.

Miss Judy Malsch, 22, of Route 1, Baroda, was sentenced to a year's probation, $200 fine and costs and $16 for medical expenses of the victim. She had pleaded guilty earlier to a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon.

She was accused of using a knife to assault David Little in Bridgman on May 27.

Robert Whitlock, 33, of 872 Thresher street, Benton Harbor, was sentenced to a two-year probation and $400 fine and costs on his guilty plea to carelessly handling a .32-caliber pistol that fired and wounded Beverly Fulton in Benton Harbor on Dec. 7.

Three persons were arrested by area law enforcement officers Friday on charges of violating laws banning possession or use of firecrackers.

St. Joseph police arrested James L. Shelman, 22, and Alan Robinson, 16, both of Chicago, on a charge of possessing fireworks. Officers said they found a box containing firecrackers on the seat of a car driven by Shelman when it was stopped on a traffic investigation. Shelman also was ticketed for driving a car without license plates, officers said.

Anthony Leroy Johnson, 16, of 371 North Hull street, Benton Harbor, was arrested by Benton Harbor police near the Afro-American club, Water street. Officers said a firecracker had been ignited.

Fracas Closes Silver Beach

Reopens After Workers Are Beaten, Money Stolen

Three employees at Silver Beach amusement park in St. Joseph were assaulted Friday afternoon and an estimated $125 stolen in a melee which caused the park to be shut down.

St. Joseph police estimated a holiday throng of about 4,000 was in the park when the melee erupted at the roller coaster ride about 1:20 p.m. They blamed a group of Negro teenagers among 40 to 50 found milling about the coaster for causing the trouble. No arrests were made.

Police said numerous teenagers remained at the park after rides and concession stands were closed. They reported about 8:20 p.m. a canvas was ripped off cars of one ride and the lights of the ride turned on by a band of teenagers.

REOPENING TODAY
The officers said 23 husbands of youths from the Chicago and Gary area were in the park for a holiday outing when the trouble began. The park was scheduled to re-open today for business as usual. It had been open about three hours when Friday's shutdown began.

Police said some of the youths a m o n g approximately 1,200 brought in on the buses were involved in the trouble.

Off-duty St. Joseph officers and Berrien county sheriff's deputies in plainclothes were called to the scene to help avert further outbreaks while the park was being closed. Uninformed deputies were on stand-by alert nearby.

Injured in the melee were Mrs. Mildred Pribbenow, 63, of 604 Lions Park drive, St. Joseph; her husband, Richard, 64, and Lexie W. Martin, 64, of 331 Summit street, Benton Harbor. All were treated at Memorial hospital, St. Joseph, for face and body injuries and released. Martin is an auxiliary St. Joseph police officer and wears a uniform including a service revolver while performing his duties as parking lot attendant for the park. His revolver was stolen in the melee.

Mrs. Pribbenow is the ticket seller at the roller coaster. She said her husband was helping out for Friday only as a ticket taker on the ride. According to police, Martin was grabbed from behind and slugged several times when he tried to stop youths from getting onto the coaster without tickets. His revolver was yanked from his holster and not recovered.

Mrs. Pribbenow said her husband was hit at least twice about the same time before the throng moved down the ramp to the ticket booth. She said she was struck through an open side window while youths reached through the slot in the front window grabbing money and tickets.

Mrs. Pribbenow said she was threatened with death by the youths and had to be escorted by two police officers from the ticket booth.

Police said about 40-50 black youths were milling about the ticket booth when they arrived. But they said only an handful of this number was actually involved in the assaults.

VOLUNTARILY CLOSED
Horace (Chief) Terrill, owner of the park, said the park was closed down voluntarily after the melee to avoid further trouble. He estimated $125 had been taken from the ticket booth but he said it was hard to determine the exact loss because of the theft of tickets also.

At least seven off-duty St. Joseph officers and seven deputies in plainclothes responded to the call for additional manpower. It took about an hour and a half for the final concession to be closed. At least 1,000 persons were reported still in the park and its beach at 5 p.m. Carloads of people were being turned away.

In a separate incident at the park, Linda Martinez, 14, of 2701 Beebe street, Niles, reported $23 was stolen from her about 3 p.m. by a teenage girl. She said the girl grabbed the purse, removed the money and then tossed the purse back at her. Miss Martinez was accompanied by her mother, sister and another woman.

Whirlpool Buys Stock In Inglis Co.

Conde Maiden Set To Head Inglis Co.

Whirlpool Corporation and John Inglis Co. Limited of Toronto, Canada, announced Thursday that Whirlpool will exchange a convertible loan to Inglis of $2,500,000, made in 1966, for 208,333 unissued shares of Inglis common stock.

The English Electric Company Limited of Britain presently owns approximately 56 per cent of the 1,107,498 shares of Inglis common stock now outstanding and will concurrently sell to Whirlpool 225,891 of its Inglis shares.

These transactions follow agreements made between the various parties in 1966. On their completion, scheduled for early August, 1969, Whirlpool and English Electric will own approximately 33 per cent and 30 per cent respectively of the outstanding shares of Inglis.

Whirlpool also has an option to purchase an additional 236,850 Inglis shares from English Electric and a further option to purchase English Electric's remaining 159,171 Inglis shares. Both options can be exercised by Whirlpool in January, 1971; and if both are exercised, Whirlpool will then own approximately 63 per cent of Inglis common stock.

Harold Nuttall, president of Inglis, announced that his assignment with Inglis has now been completed and he will be returning to the United Kingdom in August. It is planned that Conde Maiden, a vice president of Whirlpool and director of Inglis, will succeed Nuttall as president of Inglis, becoming vice president in 1968. He is presently responsible for the company's international operations.

Inglis is engaged in the manufacture and sale of home laundry equipment, dishwashers and refrigerators under license arrangements with Whirlpool and of other domestic products. Whirlpool is a leading United States manufacturer of major home appliances.

Tavern Site Opposed

The Benton Harbor Masonic Temple association has sent a letter to the Benton Harbor city commission, opposing a plan to locate a tavern at 284 Colfax avenue.

Al Tabor, president of the association, said the letter was sent to the commission for review at its meeting Monday night, and that a delegation would attend the session.

The letter said it would be a "breach of faith" to locate a tavern in the midst of an urban renewal area. The location is approximately two blocks from the Masonic temple, 118 Lake street.

"When we decided to locate our temple in Benton Harbor instead of Fairplain, we entered into an agreement with the city and urban renewal that this area would be upgraded," the letter states. It added that "a public tavern would not be compatible to the future development of this area."

The proposal to locate a tavern in the former location of the Leathers Cycle shop was disclosed recently by Mrs. Sarah Cook. She has been seeking a new site since her old location at 127 Market street was purchased and demolished by urban renewal. She holds a state license to sell beer and wine.

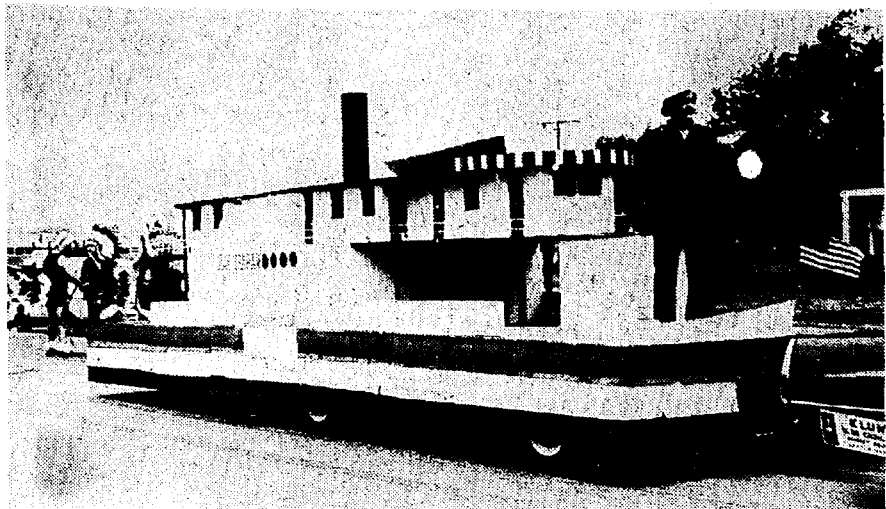

Her original plans to relocate at 430 Rifford street were withdrawn by Mrs. Cook after neighborhood residents protested.

His Wife
Is Missing

MRS. STELLA CARO

HARTFORD — State Police are seeking the whereabouts of Stella Chavez Caro, 19, a temporary resident of the Faulkner Farms near Hartford, who has been missing since June 29.

Her husband told state troopers at the Paw Paw post that his wife had been despondent since shortly after their arrival in Michigan from Texas in mid-June. He said that he thought her despondency was due to the sudden death of their nine-month old baby.

Caro told state police that his wife speaks fluent Spanish and English. She is five feet, two inches tall, weighs about 105 pounds and has dark brown hair and eyes.

State police said they had no clues to where Mrs. Caro might have gone after leaving the Faulkner farm last Sunday.

Buchanan Dispute
Awaiting HearingLatest Event In Sewage
Treatment Hassle

BUCHANAN — City officials now are awaiting a fact-finding hearing as the latest development in their dispute with the State Water Resources commission over sewage treatment improvements which the WRC has ordered the city to make.

City Manager Robert Faulhaber said no word has been received on when a hearing will be held. Faulhaber said he believes the hearing will be a "kangaroo procedure" because the WRC will name the fact-finder to preside at the hearing. The city manager said he anticipates that the WRC will use the hearing to gather data and then seek a court order to force Buchanan to meet the commission stipulations for sewage treatment.

The city's dispute with the water commission stems from methods of complying with an order issued earlier this year that Buchanan improve its sewage treatment system. When the city refused to comply with commission stipulations at a meeting with WRC officials last week in Lansing, the commission agreed to assign the matter

PAW PAW — Two men were admitted to Lake View hospital in Paw Paw early Friday morning after their cars collided on I-94 just west of 41st Street in Paw Paw township.

Donald Webber, 23, Northfield, Minn., driver of one of the vehicles, is reported to be in satisfactory condition in Lake View hospital, while Winfred Goddard, 35, driver of the other car, is reported to be in good condition.

State police from the Paw Paw post said that the Goddard vehicle struck the Webber car which was parked on the shoulder of the east-bound lane about 4:45 a.m.

Goddard told troopers that he had just passed a truck and lost control of his car when he pulled back into the driving lane. His car struck the Webber car and then flipped over at the side of the road.

In another accident, earlier in the holiday, a Paw Paw man received a broken nose and possible broken arm, when his car went out of control on I-94 in Kalamazoo.

The man, Terry Boley, 24, CR-653, Paw Paw, was taken to Bronson hospital in Kalamazoo and is reported to be in satisfactory condition.

State troopers said the Boley car went out of control and tore off 20 feet of guard rail on the east-bound lane of I-94, before skidding 200 feet and rolling over.

The cause of the crash is still under investigation.

Deputies said both men were alone in their cars when one of them apparently drove left of the center line resulting in the accident at 8:45 a.m. Friday.

Milliken
Dedicates
New MarinaBall Tonight
Winds Up Giant
Centennial Event

SOUTH HAVEN — Threats of rain failed to dampen the spirits of South Haven's centennial celebration as the city staged one of the largest July 4 parades ever held here and dedicated its new marina with the help of Michigan Gov. William Milliken.

A cloud-covered sky dispersed a few raindrops only a half hour before Gov. Milliken was expected to arrive at the South Haven airport and participate in the dedication program Thursday afternoon. But it did not rain and by the time the governor was on hand the sun was breaking through the overcast again.

BIG SUCCESS

Parade participants scrambled for plastic covering to save the many floats that were already lining up for Friday morning's parade when the city was hit with a thunderstorm around 9 a.m. But by the time the parade was started at 11 a.m., the sun was again out and the parade was a big success.

Gov. Milliken told a gathering of centennial celebrants at the marina that the development of the city's harbor has been a significant part of the city's history. He noted that the state's multi-million dollar resort industry had its very beginnings at South Haven and other towns like it that attracted folks as summer vacation spots along the Michigan shorelines.

The governor said the marina was "a dramatic example of man improving and expanding what nature has provided for him" and said he was impressed with the "spirit of determination" and the "warm hospitality" displayed by the people of South Haven.

He added that it was probably significant too that this week marked the 10th anniversary of the St. Lawrence Seaway, of which "South Haven has played a significant part."

Gov. Milliken was then accompanied by a delegation of special guests and government officials on a special boat donated by Peterson Boat Works, of Saugatuck, for a ribbon-cutting ceremony in the entrance to the facility.

Among the guests were Michigan Waterways Commission chairman Volmar J. Miller; U.S. Congressman Edward Hutchinson; State Sen. Gary Byker; State Rep. Edson V. Root; Mayor Richard Lewis; and former mayor Glenn Sperry.

The parade was viewed by thousands of spectators who came from all over Michigan and the surrounding states to participate in the community's gala July 4 weekend. Police said the roads were literally blocked with cars moving into town during the morning hours.

It was probably one of the longest parades in the city's history as about 140 entries were listed. Parade chairman Mrs. James Holub said, however, that some of the entries failed to show up at the last minute, probably because of the rainstorm earlier in the morning.

Trophies were also awarded to the Miss Michigan float and the Easter Bunnies in the business division; the Eau Claire float in the dance division, and a Billy Blueberry Special award went to the Early Day Tractor and Gas Engine Association.

The holiday also featured a pony pulling contest, sponsored by the South Haven volunteer fire department; and ox roast at Ashen's Steak House and canoe races on the Black River. Dr. Ronald Smith and his son Bill, of Galesburg, won the first trophy in the canoe race after paddling their canoe from the marina northeast to the bridge and back in 30 minutes, 34 seconds. They were four minutes ahead of the second place winners, Charles Coombe and Jim Huey, both of South Haven. Thirteen canoes were entered in the afternoon race.

Other events on Thursday, also well attended, were a water show on the Black River and a donkey baseball game at Ratcliffe field. The girl scouts staged a colorful and apparently successful flea market in Dyckman park throughout the day.

The six-day festival will wind up with a big centennial ball to-night, featuring Vaughn Monroe and his orchestra in the high school gym, and a clothesline art show, sports car rally, ice cream social and Venetian night event Sunday afternoon and evening.

Over 100 artists from all over Michigan, Indiana and Illinois are expected to participate in the art show, which has become a tradition at South Haven every summer. The men of the First Methodist church will sponsor an ice cream social across the street from Oakland Park, where the art show will be going on.

The sports car rally, sponsored by the New Car Dealer's Association of South Haven, will take place from noon to 6 p.m. at L. C. Mohr high school parking lot.

The Venetian night event will feature a parade of boats, decorated with lights, on the Black River after dark.

Boy Drowns
At Camp
In CassGoes Swimming
When Lifeguard
Not On Duty

CASSOPOLIS — A 15-year-old Ecorse, Mich., youth drowned Friday afternoon in a pool that was closed to swimming because no life guard was on duty at the Seventh-day Adventist Lake Region Camp at Calvin Center.

The boy's death marked the second drowning in Cass county so far this year.

Cass county sheriff's deputies said Benjamin Anthony, Jr., 15, apparently climbed over a fence at the pool. His body was discovered in the pool at about 4:15 p.m. when the pool was opened by a life guard and other swimmers. The youth was pulled from the pool and efforts to revive him failed. He was pronounced dead at the scene by Cass county coroner Rella Schoff.

Deputies said he was last seen about an hour before his body was discovered.

The youth and his guardians, an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Crawford of Ecorse, were attending a two-week meeting at the camp located at Calvin Center and Brownsville road southwest of Vandalia.

Survivors include his aunt and uncle and his father Benjamin Anthony, Sr. The youth was born April 15, 1954, in Ecorse.

The body was taken to the Connelly funeral home in Cassopolis and transferred to the B.J. McFall funeral home in Detroit.

Suspect

GRAND JUNCTION — James McAbee, 23, of Grand Junction was listed in poor condition today in Kalamazoo-Bronson hospital suffering from a gunshot wound of the stomach.

McAbee was reported undergoing surgery this morning.

The shooting occurred in the vicinity of County Roads 681 and 388 about 10 p.m. Friday, according to Van Buren sheriff's officers. State police from the Paw Paw post dispatched a tracking dog to the scene to hunt for the assailant but did not make an arrest.

A suspect in the shooting was arrested and is lodged in the Van Buren county jail on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon but sheriff's department officials withheld his name this morning.

THREE COUNTY AREA

Funds Allocated To Fight German Measles

The Berrien health department has been allocated a one-year federal grant of $24,055 to fight German measles in Berrien, Cass and Van Buren counties, according to U.S. Rep. Edwin Hutchinson (R-Fennville).

The grant, good for June 30, 1969 to June 30, 1970, will help promote immunization of youngsters up to 11 or 12 years old against German measles, which can deform or kill unborn children in pregnant women.

The grant also will help pay for immunizations, at county health clinics, of children whose parents can't afford the full charge, according to Berrien Health Director Robert Loecey.

The promotion program will start when vaccine is available, perhaps in September. Loecey said the department may develop a community-wide committee to promote German measles immunization.

The $24,055 grant is below Berrien's request for $33,405, but not enough federal funds were available, Dr. Loecey said.

CHAPIN LAKE ACCIDENT

Trio Escape Unharm'd
When Boat Overturns

A motorboat operator and a father and son riding with him escaped unharm'd Friday when they were dumped from the 16-foot boat on Chapin lake, Berrien Springs.

Berrien county sheriff's deputies said James Harrison, 26, PO Box 26, Berrien Springs, and Ray Booser, 39, US-31, Berrien Springs, and his son, Kenneth, 10, were picked up by persons in other boats after the runaway boat crashed.

The boat had circled the trio for about 10 minutes, deputies said, before hitting an abutment and sinking in three feet of water.

According to the deputies, the trio said they had been following in the wake of a boat operated by Otis Weaver, 704 Red Bud trail, Buchanan, when their craft was rolled over by a heavy swell in the wake.

Deers' Death Attributed To Time Change

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Michigan may have saved close to 100 deer from deer-car crashes this year by rejecting Daylight Saving Time, a University of Michigan study shows.

According to graduate student Ross Allen, who studied the records of 10 southern Michigan counties, of the 104 added collisions between deer and cars last year over the year before, 97 were during the months when daylight saving time hours were in effect.

He said most crashes occurred in the fall, while deer are more active because of the hunting and rutting seasons, and humans are more active, creating peak homeward bound traffic.

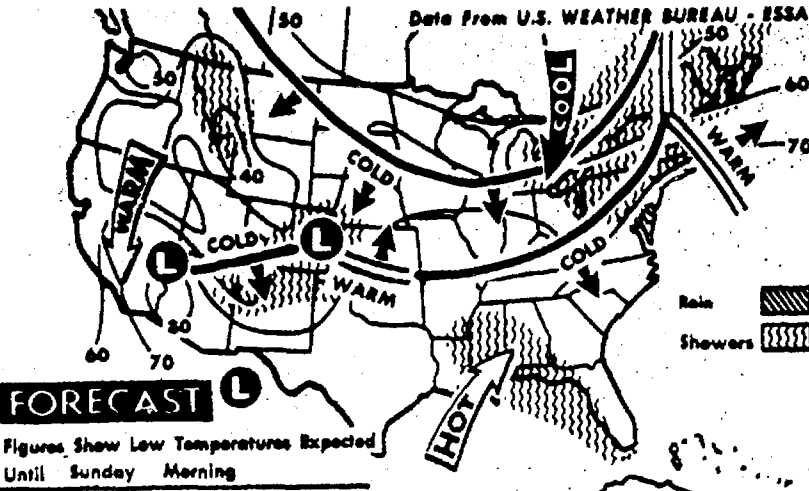

He also noted that time was important factor, most of the crashes coming in the late evening.

Allen advised drivers to slow down if they saw a deer, and not to try and steer away from it. He found that the cause of the only three fatalities in deer-car accidents was secondary collisions between a car swerving away from a deer and another car.

"The deer weighs only about 100 pounds," he said. "If you hit him, he'll move. If you hit a tree, it won't."

He'll have a cheery Thank you

When your carrierboy comes to collect, please make sure you're ready. With the right change, if possible, he'll appreciate it with a broad smile and a "Thank you". You see, because he is in business for himself, your newspaperboy depends on the full collection of his route for his full profit. Repeat calls mean extra work with no extra profit. So—give the boy a break. And thanks!

Today's Weather Map

NEW YORK—Patches of thundershowers will occur Saturday in the Northwest, Southwest, along the Gulf Coast and in the Northeast. Hot and humid weather will continue from the southern plains to New England, while cooler weather is on tap for areas from the Midwest to the Central Plains. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Corporations Not Run On Democratic Tenets

By SAM SHULSKY

Q. Several of the companies in which I own stock pay meager or no dividends. However, in reading the proxy notice I find that directors are doing all right for themselves—lavish salaries, stock options, fabulous retirement benefits. Since the directors, in effect, control the company, the "public" shareholders are powerless. Many are "little people" spread out all over the country. It seems to me there "ought to be a law." Why can't directors get theirs (other than a reasonable salary) only after all shareholders receive dividends?

A. U.S. business has made an enviable record in development and production of new products, in distribution in helping give this country the highest standard of living in the world. But anyone who thinks the typical U.S. corporation is a democratic institution is kidding himself. (Perhaps one is naive even to expect that it should be democratically run. One could certainly make a solid argument against putting many corporate decisions up for a vote by shareholders. And one of these decisions must involve the hiring and rewarding of executives.)

I make only three comments:

1) Management can be doing a great job for you (the shareholder) even if it doesn't pay any dividends on the stock. You should look primarily to the corporation's growth record for evidence of your investment progress.

2) You can vote against stock options by so marking your proxy or by showing up at the annual meeting (although your chances of carrying your point are negligible).

3) You can sell your stock and go elsewhere.

ON RIGHT TRACK

Q. We have $1,100 in matured E bonds. We now need maximum income from our funds. Should we cash them in and buy Treasury bonds? Can we claim the $100 deduction on interest?

A. Treasury bonds today are yielding anywhere from six to 7 per cent, so if you want generous, safe income, you're on the right track. There is no $100 exclusion on interest. This is given only on dividends.

CAN'T OUTSMART THEM

Q. It is advisable to pay an annuity quarterly, semi-annually or annually instead of monthly?

A. Using your own figures: $34.72 a month $102.17 quarterly, $292.34 semi-annually, and $399.36 you can see that you'd save $2 on a quarterly payment, about $8 on a semi-annual payment, and about $17 on an annual payment.

Obviously, in order to make the larger payments you lose the use of your money (or the interest it might earn) for the length of time of the prepayment. Don't try to outwit an insurance company on arithmetic.

SELL ANY TIME

Q. I'm interested in buying Treasury bonds, but what about their maturities, the length of time they must be held?

A. If you glance through the list of Treasury bonds in the daily paper you will find bonds (bills) maturing next week, or bonds and notes maturing as long as 30 years off. Take your pick. Regardless of the maturity date, you can sell any bond five minutes after you buy it.

Shulsky welcomes written questions, but he will be able to provide answers only through the column.

Klansmen Jailed After Gun Battle

SWAN QUARTER, N.C. (AP) — Seventeen Ku Klux Klansmen were jailed Friday night after a brief exchange of gunfire with a group of Negroes in Hyde County.

Lt. L. F. Lance of the North Carolina Highway Patrol said gunfire was exchanged during a KKK rally in a building near the small community of Middletown in the coastal county.

He said 13 had been charged with engaging in a riot, three with inciting others to riot, and one with resisting arrest and assaulting an officer.

Lance said one negro girl was injured slightly during the exchange of shots. The unidentified girl was treated at a hospital in Belhaven and released.

One Klansman was hurt while being arrested by state troopers, Lance said.

"Both sides now claim that the other started shooting first," Lance said, "and our investigation is continuing."

Lance said about 75 to 80 persons were at the KKK rally, and an estimated 125 Negroes began milling around the site.

He said the state troopers were called in when a Negro man reported he was fired at as he drove past the rally site.

Hyde County was the scene of racial violence over school desegregation plans last year.

Fireworks Kills 4 Year Old

Explosives Severely Injure Children

By Associated Press

Fireworks killed a 4-year-old girl in Kansas City, Kan., and severely injured several children in other states on Independence Day.

Shelley Adams died an hour after she was hit in the back by exploding fireworks, apparently homemade, Kansas City police said.

In Tacoma, Wash., Chuck Crawford, a Northwest Orient Airlines pilot, died when a small biplane that he had built crashed into Commencement Bay while performing acrobatics during a fireworks show.

A 6-year-old boy from Wickliffe, Ohio, was in fair condition in a Cleveland hospital with severe burns. Police said John Coxwell threw a firecracker into the family garage and it hit some gasoline, setting off an explosion.

James Spahn, 19, of Niles, Ohio, lost his left hand when someone threw a firecracker into his car, police said. The explosive landed in Spahn's lap, police said, and went off as he picked it up to throw out the window.

In Russellville, Ark., a country club manager and a Little Rock fireman were injured when a box of fireworks was ignited by sparks from an aerial bomb, during a display at the Russellville country club. Both men were reported in good condition.

Three persons were injured in New York City and about 100 windows shattered when a box of firecrackers exploded a block from police headquarters in lower Manhattan. Police said they found hundreds of unexploded firecrackers in the same building.
